

Truth

We all entrust the words of others
And we expect everybody to spell
None other than the truth.

Truth is the tool of wisdom
It is generally assumed
To be a code of ethic.

Do we all realize and concern
Where we need to begin
And where we need to conceal truth.

We have our own misgivings
To gain one we lose many
Truth may be sometimes sweet or sour.

We can endure all the mishaps
That surrounds us
If we could speak truth.

Learning truth can be much bitter
But still, one cannot ignore
The double face of the world.

We all know what actually
We should say
But let it be, only truth.

A single truth is better than thousand lies
We need to utter truth
In all our words and deeds.

There are very few
To stand and die
For the cause of truth.

The reality of life
Can be only known
When only truth is revealed.
